71 (10分) I love reading English novels. At twelve, I was able to read a popular novel calling Harry Porter. In the past three years, my vocabulary expanded greatly. Undoubtedly, reading novels play a role in my vocabulary and spelling. So I advise that we English learner should spend some time read English novels every day. When you begin to read English novels, remember that it's not necessarily to understand each word. Not every word is important in a sentence. After you come into the word several times, you will understand how it means. You can also improve your grammar after reading many English novels. So why not to open up a whole new world of literature by reading English novels?

72.Dear Henry,

I'm sorry to hear that you are having trouble fitting in your new school and at a loss how to set goals._
